TRENCH FOOT

"Trench Foot" was a very common problem for soldier fighting in the trenches. Read this quote from a soldier who fought in the trenches and respond to the questions.

"If you have never had trench foot described to you, I will explain. Your feet swell to two to three times their normal size and go completely dead. You can stick a bayonet into them and not feel a thing, if you are lucky enough not to lose your feet and the swelling starts to go down, it is then that the most indescribable agony begins. I have heard men cry and scream with pain and many have had to have their feet and legs amputated. I was one of the lucky ones, but one more day in that trench and it may have been too late." - Harry Roberts

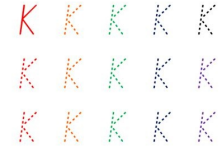

Why did soldiers get trench foot? What caused this problem?

What were the effects of trench foot? What could happen to soldiers that got trench foot?
